

A DEADLY GAME

by Mark Halpin

Just as in The Last of Sheila, the six guests attending this puzzle are embroiled in a dangerous game of skullduggery. Each guest has been presented with one of the secrets shown below, but one holds an even darker secret: they're a cold-blooded killer!

Six clue answers have been replaced in the grid with other words, which we'll call "Evidence." Enumerations refer to the grid entries, which may be of different lengths than the missing answers (as a solving aid, the enumerations of the missing answers, in clue order, are 7, 9 (2 wds.), 8, 7, 7, and 8). Each piece of Evidence is linked to one of the guests via wordplay, in two ways the solver might deduce, and five of the guests may also be found linked to their evidence in the completed grid.

Identify the killer by determining which guest has fled the scene. Enter the missing words replaced by the Evidence associated with the five (relatively) innocent guests in the lower grid, left to right, one letter per space, in order of those guests' secrets, to reveal the fate of the killer.

- You are a BULLY and a COWARD.
- You are a FLANEUR.
- You are a MAILBOMBER.
- You are a NEO-NAZI.
- You are a NUTSO.
- You are a POTTY MOUTH.
