

THE RUG MERCHANT

The rug merchant looks wistfully into the brilliant azure heavens, and then at one of his samples. "It's said that this one here could transport you wherever you wanted to go, if you knew exactly what incantation to use. That's just a legend, of course. That's all you get around here. Tales within tales within tales."

Looking at the details of the rug, you wonder if the legends could be true

