

THRINACIA

*Note how the cattle of Helios roam uncontrolled in his lush grass.
Come to the aid of the proud God, portioning land for his plump herds.
Try to be sure of your competence -- better to practice in bare fields.
Envy no bovine serenity: luckier all who remain free!*

Each of the puzzles above is to be solved like a normal "Fences" puzzle: draw a continuous loop along the dashed lines such that the numbers 0, 1, 2, and 3 inside a square indicate the number of sides of that square containing a segment of the fence. In these bare fields, however, the numbers have been replaced by rocks and plants.

Each symbol stands for the same number consistently within a puzzle. However, no symbol represents the same number in more than one puzzle.
